Overview

REC Foundation Signature Events give teams the opportunity to play at a tournament that is of the highest caliber. Thanks to the dedication of Event Partners who are willing to provide these events, a large percentage of teams will be able to experience these world class events. Applications to host Signature Events are open to all experienced Event Partners.

An REC Foundation Signature Event has two prongs of success. The first is an expectation of technical success for the competition itself. The expectation is that teams will have a great experience beyond a local or regional tournament. Running matches on time and having the correct number of practice, skills, and qualification matches is the expectation for these events.

The second prong of success and excellence in determining what makes the event signature. This is generally a combination of factors that add to the overall feel and experience for the teams. The venue is a critical item as well as the extras that take your event to the next level. It is a combination of banners, elevated fields, special medals, and VIP guests that make an event signature.

Because of the high level of expectations, the REC Foundation has put certain general requirements on all of these events if they are going to be called Signature Events and have VEX Worlds spot levels. Spot levels will be determined based on the number of special requirements achieved by each event. Not all events that meet the requirements will be designated as Signature Events and must be approved by the REC Foundation.
